LOSE ALL BY DEATH.

L. B. Caswell Points Out How the Dodge Law Works.

IT IS A BARRIER TO ALL SALES.

Churches Mustn't Buy Land From a Man Who Isn't Sure He Will Live Three Months, For They May Lose It And Their Money as Well.

Thus far the discussion on the effect of the Dodge law enacted by the last legislature upon churches and other charitable institutions, in acquiring real estate, has been had as though the law affected wills and bequests only. Honorable L. B. Caswell, however, suggests a phase far more important. Says Mr. Caswell in a letter to the Sentinel:

"But no gift, grant or devise of real estate to any such literary or charitable corporation shall be valid unless made at least three months before the death of the person making the same." The statutes amended relate to titles, and not especially to wills. The word 'grant' means convey. This term is not used in making bequests, but always in making deeds. Churches, in purchasing real estate for the erection of buildings, would do well to defer the improvement for three months after obtaining the deed to see if the grantor does not die. If he should, their title would be gone, and perhaps the purchase money also."

FUNDS FOR THE FAIR.

The Illinois Senate Passes the Bill Appropriating $1,000,000 for a State Exhibit at Chicago.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 27.—The world's fair bill, making an appropriation of $1,000,000 for a state exhibit, has passed the Illinois senate by a vote of 36 to 11.

Most of the time of the senate was taken up in considering the Australian ballot reform bill, which was a special order. The bill was read a second time and the amendments proposed by the elections committee were all adopted. Many of them were of mere formal character and were adopted unanimously. Following were adopted by a strict party vote, republicans voting aye:

"Providing that ballots, instead of being destroyed as soon as counted, shall be kept six months, then destroyed in the presence of a commission, to consist of custodian of ballots and representative of each of two leading political parties to be appointed by county judges; providing that polls shall be opened at 8 o'clock a. m. and closed at 5 p. m.; providing for numbering of ballots to correspond with the number of voters names on poll-book."

The bill was then advanced to a third reading without objection. It looks as though both parties will unite on the bill as it now stands.

The house spent all the forenoon advancing the legislation recommended by the committee on revenue. Among other measures, the bill to secure listing of the personal property and notes was sent to the third reading. By this bill it is made the duty of the assessor to propound questions calculated or necessary to reveal the existence and ownership of property, real or personal, and the duty of owner to answer all such questions. The committee on penal and reformatory institutions reported adversely on the bill providing that penitentiary convicts shall be employed in building roads and manufacturing building material.

OHIO FARMERS.

They Are Gathering for the Convention at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., May 27.—Delegates to the convention of the Farmers' union to assemble here to-day are coming in rapidly. The indications are that the convention will be largely attended by representative men. The chief question agitating the minds of the delegates is the third-party movement. Opinions are equally divided. President Ellis has received communications from over 100 granges in the state and a majority of them favor the nomination of a state ticket. Col. J. H. Brigham thinks that the proposition to indorse the third party movement will meet with strong opposition. It is a well-settled fact that even should the convention decide to encourage the third-party movement by placing a ticket in the field no nomination will be made at this convention. No matter what the action of the convention is the farmers are fully determined to nominate independent legislative candidates in many of the counties and senatorial districts and exact pledges from the candidates of the old parties in others. The general opinion among the delegates is adverse to the reelection of Senator Sherman, should the farmers hold the balance of power in the next legislature. Great difficulty is expected on agreeing on a platform.

HE WOULDN'T SIGN IT.

Michigan's Governor Vetoes the $30,000 G. A. R. Bill.

LANSING, Mich., May 27.—Gov. Winans has vetoed the bill which passed the legislature appropriating $30,000 of state funds for the entertainment of the visitors to the state during the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Detroit next August. The veto was based on constitutional grounds, the governor holding the appropriation to be the diversion of public funds to a private purpose, and it was not unexpected, as the governor had already vetoed bills involving the same principle. An effort will be made to pass the bill over the veto.

The senate on Tuesday passed the bill for reappropriating the representative districts, and the house passed a bill appropriating $25,000 for the erection of a cottage for males at the criminal insane asylum.

The same policy will be carried out in the mines of Foster, Mystic and other places where this company has interests.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., May 27.—The commissioners appointed by an act of congress to negotiate with the various tribes of Indians now occupying the Great Colville reservation, north of this city, have returned to Spokane Falls after a month of negotiations. Their efforts have resulted in an agreement with the Indians whereby 1,500,000 acres of the reservation, or a little more than one-half, are to be sold to the government for $1 an acre and thrown open to settlement. Under the treaty every Indian man woman and child has the right to select eighty acres in severalty. The land ceded covers one of the richest and most attractive portions of the state. A BADGER BORGIA.

Mrs. Thomas Russell Held For Poisoning Mrs. Erickson.

LOVED HER VICTIM'S HUSBAND.

The Unfortunate Woman Took Medicine Only From Her Husband's or Mrs. Russell's Hand Shown by the Testimony. A Bride Seventeen Years Old.

EAU CLAIRE, May 27.—[Special].—The coroner's jury returned a verdict this morning that Mrs. Bertha Erickson came to her death by poison administered by Mrs. Elizabeth Russell. The fact was established beyond question by testimony of physicians and chemists that large quantities of arsenic were found in the stomach of the deceased and that it caused her death. Other evidence showed that deceased was just seventeen years old, and that she and Peter Erickson, a bright young Norwegian farmer, had been married five weeks when she died; that Erickson and his bride, when she died, were at the house of Mrs. Thomas Russell, in Brunswick township, where Erickson had been working for Mrs. Russell, a middle-aged lady, on her farm; that Mrs. Erickson, who had been ill, became suddenly worse and died in three-quarters of an hour, in convulsions, after taking a glass of water and spoonful of rum. Her symptoms during all her illness were those of arsenical poisoning. Her food and medicine had been administered sometimes by Mrs. Russell and sometimes by Erickson. Mrs. Russell is said to have been very jealous of Mrs. Erickson.

MADISON BOOMERS WEARY.

Madison's subscription committee on advancement work has given up in disgust after doing much hard work. The committee was appointed at a recent meeting of the business men for the purpose of raising a $5,000 fund annually for five years to be used in advancing the city's material interests. The committee, to all appearances, is not highly elated over the manner in which the men who appointed them have taken hold of the advancement work, and have become discouraged in trying to raise the advancement fund. They relate in a communication to the State Journal the reasons for their discouragement. The business men have not shown the lively interest in raising the fund that is requisite to the success of such an enterprise. A number have taken the proposition to subscribe to the advancement fund under advisement and have forgotten to mention it since. Some have refused to subscribe to the fund unless the money raised shall be used in work that legitimately belongs to the municipal government, such as improving the streets. The committee concludes that, as the prospects are not favorable for the securing of the desired fund there is no more use continuing the work and they confess to "that tired feeling" which sometimes seizes upon committees appointed to canvass for subscriptions.

WHERE WOULD THE DISCIPLES HAVE BEEN?

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst preached in defence of Dr. Briggs in New York the other day and pointed out the fact that if the apostles hadn't been out of the way before Princeton college was founded there would have been no show for them whatever. "They would have been too heterogeneous," urged Dr. Parkhurst, "no one system would have satisfied them all. Peter and John never would have agreed on any theological platform that had more than two planks in it; and when Paul came in everything would have gone to pieces. The spirit of such an institution as that I have just mentioned is to make theologians just as a machine makes shoe-pegs; just as a baker makes crackers—the same quantity of dough in the cracker before it is put into the oven, and the same stamp put on the cracker after it is pulled out of the oven."
Dr. Parkhurst speaks from a rock-based Presbyterian standpoint, but his comments will serve as topic for debate in almost any of the orthodox churches.

A PRECEDENT FOR A. J. TURNER.

Wisconsin is not the only state where formal protest against a democratic gerrymander has been made. A suit has been begun by republican politicians to test the validity of the democratic apportionment in Indiana. It is directed against the secretary of state and the state printer, and the court is asked for an order restraining the defendants from printing the act. It is claimed that one county was omitted in the apportionment and that it has since been inserted. A second allegation is that the act is unconstitutional, not being made on the basis of the vote at the preceding election.

THE BILL PROBABLY DEAD.

Several parties are quietly investigating as to the validity of Janesville's charter amendments. So far their search confirms the position taken by "The Gazette." The rules of the two houses were not even complied with in the passage of the amendments, which would alone invalidate the act. The more the attorneys search the Supreme court reports and the legislative manuals the more they are convinced that the blunder was fatal to the entire bill.

The members of the Florida legislature show an extreme sensitiveness to criticism. They have resolved to exclude from the house of representatives the correspondent of any newspaper which questions the devotion to duty of any member of the house. Having prevented any one who may view their actions in an unfavorable light from attending their sessions, the legislators will be able to form a mutual admiration society of their own, and transact business in utter unconsciousness of public criticism. They will be happy until they come out of their seclusion and hear what their angered constituents have to say about their folly.

The prince of Wales' health is said to be in a precarious condition, but it does not deter the heir apparent to the crown of Great Britain from visiting the theaters, participating in the court balls or betting on horse races. Although an invalid, very much in debt and a grandfather, the prince continues to perform those official duties cheerfully, and to wear a trifle the loudest trousers to be seen anywhere.

Level-headed Rock county farmer is not grieving because the April ocean shipments of corn are less than for years before, so long as he can sell what he offers now for 60 cents a bushel and buyers are willing at this time to contract for all he can raise this year at from 35 to 45 cents. Farmers are perfectly satisfied with a home market so long, at least, as these prices prevail.

The Recorder must keep cool and not get excited, for such is the edict of the health officer. The question before the people of this city at the present time is the validity of the batch of charter amendments recently published in its columns, and to use the slang phrase "the gas fund isn't in it."

Nearly every paper in the country has said something about Juror Culver more biting than anything the Chicago Herald ever thought of saying. But Mr. Culver begins to realize the fate of a man who undertakes a libel suit for effect and is silent.

The "young democrats" have long since taken most of the leaves and fishes in this part of the state, but they are likely to learn that a "war horse" vote counts for just as much as a juvenile.

The constitutionality of the original package law has been upheld by the supreme court and Kansas prohibitionists may once more sleep easy.

A Jewish Rabbi.

RABBI ISAAC M. WISE.

Rabbi Wise celebrated his seventy-second year by issuing a book called "Pronouns," an introduction to the study of the Scriptures from an Israelite standpoint, but all who have examined it say it will prove of value to inquirers of every faith or no faith. Isaac Mayer Wise was born in Bohemia April 3, 1819, graduated from the university of Vienna in 1843, and was at once appointed rabbi at Rodnitz, Bohemia. In 1846 he came to America, locating in New York, and in 1854 was called to Cincinnati, where he has ever since remained. As editor of the Israelite and head of the Plum Street Temple congregation he has attained a national reputation, and has written several instructive works on Judaism. His seventy-second birthday was recently the occasion of a general festival by the Jews of Cincinnati.

FADS OF THE PEEPAGE.

Dr. Contee Fairfax, of Virginia, is eleventh Baron Fairfax in the peerage of Scotland, but he finds it, however, a greater honor to be a citizen of the United States. Lord Rosslyn recently made a bet with Lord Headley that he would eat two pounds of steak and drink a gallon of ale in less time than Lord Headley took to kill and skin a bullock.

The Marquis of Alibury, who was once in trade, still affects his costermonger suit on odd occasions, and likes to make a bet that he will sell a barrow of greens as quickly as any hawker in Whitechapel.

Lord Gardner lives all the year round in India, and his baroness is a daughter of Prince Mirza Shikoo, a grandson of the late king of Delhi. She is a coffee-colored lady, and enjoys her betelnut as thoroughly as a nautch girl.

Lord Lisle insists upon smoking a short pipe in the streets. He is an Irish peer and not very well off. His dining room walls are adorned with colored clay pipes, arranged in stars and crosses, all of which—over 500—have been smoked by his lordship.

The former Earl of Belfast, now Marquis of Donegal, has reformed. He no longer gets drunk in public houses or indulges in any other of the eccentric freaks which gained him an extraordinary reputation; old age is creeping upon him, and his once splendid physique is a wreck.

Lord Newburgh point blank declines to be either an Englishman or a Scotsman, although he is the tenth peer of his title. He is an Italian citizen, and calls himself Count Bandini—perhaps one of the only instances on record where a man prefers being an Italian count to an English earl.

Viscount Taaffe, an Irish peer, positively declines to be an Irishman of any description. He and his father before him were naturalized Austrians, and the country has agreed so well with him that he has risen to the rank of prime minister to the Emperor Franz Josef. He calls himself a count—Count Taaffe.

The Duke of Hamilton can be recognized a mile off by his clothes. They are always of the same pattern—very loud check, very baggy trousers, very short coat and a pot hat. He usually has a dozen suits made on the same lines, color and pattern at the same time, and he regularly, whenever it is possible, changes his garments in the middle of the day.

EPICUREAN MORSELS.

Terrapin is but a gastronomic sentiment and delicious memory now.

The funny man rises to say there is not a shadow of doubt about bones in that fish. There are people who contend that griddle cakes are good for breakfast all the year.

An article in an English magazine says Americans are the heartiest eaters in the world.

What is called White Mountain cake is as heavy as some hotels as if it were as old as hills.

A peculiarity of much of the calf's foot jelly of the period is that the young cow's foot is "not in it."

In country houses where there is the smallest farm "asparagus out of our own garden" is in order.

Macaroni croquettes are something new, and are eaten with a sauce of grated cheese that is nothing if not rich.

Modern style of cooking, whatever the French may say, makes Francatelli's book very much a back number.

Some of the alleged new brands of sardines on the market are suspected of being old ones under a new French name.

Bismarck is said to eat every morning upon awakening a bowl of broth "made of yellow meal, sausage meat and milk."

A very odd paragraph about lettuce as a "sure cure" for insomnia is on its rounds again, to the amusement of physicians.

Large quantities of seed oysters have lately been sent to England to be planted there in hopes of the best bivalve results.

MASCULINE MENTION.

The Rothschilds are believed to have $50,000,000 invested in American securities. A baronetcy and a fortune have fallen to the lot of Eugene Drake, of Ogletown, Pa.

Eli Aylworth, of Providence, a banker ninety years of age, said to be an active and keen business man yet.

Henry Judd, of Goshen, Ind., a scissors grinder, who trumped that county for fifty years, has died leaving a fortune of $20,000.

M. Lambert, who married into the Rothschild family, has been obliged to change his name to Baron Alphonse de Rothschild.

District Attorney Ridgway, of Brooklyn, N. Y., now serving his third term, is about forty years old and fine looking, and has dark hair and eyes and a smooth face. He is an able lawyer and an eloquent speaker.

Maxwell Evans, the youngest of ex-Senator William Evans' sons, has only a slight resemblance to his father. He is perhaps thirty years old, below medium height, and of slender frame. As a lawyer he is already coming into prominence.

Mr. Stanley is in splendid health and spirits in London. His robust appearance now is in marked contrast to the mere shadow of himself which limped painfully to the altar in Westminster abbey, supported on the arm of a friend, on his wedding day.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields, of New York, is over six feet tall, wears long, gray, flowing whiskers and a high hat, is about fifty years old, and is a great favorite with all attached to his office, and with the newspaper men who visit it in search of news.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie is the first American ever invited to join the British Economic association, of which Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, is president, and Mr. Gladstone is a member. The organization includes eighty or more of the best known European economists.

E. S. Jaffray, of New York, one of the pioneers of the wholesale dry goods jobbing trade, is about five feet ten, somewhat corpulent, has snow white hair and florid complexion, and may be seen daily at the wheel of his steam yacht, on which he goes to and returns from his place of business.

Franklin Woodruff, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a prominent Republican, and for many years chairman of the Republican general committee of that city, is probably the finest looking man in the City of Churches. He bears a striking resemblance to the late President Arthur, whose intimate friend he was.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

New Yorkers every year spend $4,300,000 for umbrellas.
Nine-tenths of Indiana's forests have been cut down.

An official survey shows that Rhode Island's nearest approach to a mountain is an eminence in Gloucester, which rises 805 feet above the sea level, and to which the name of Durfee hill has been given.

A young woman of West Union, O., filled up a pan with corn meal and playfully ran her hand through the contents. She felt something on her finger, and on drawing her hand out found a fine gold ring, worth $10, encircling her third finger. It is an elegant one, but how it came in the meal is a mystery.

An official weekly in Germany calculates how an invalid workman can live for 30 days in the year from the $75 allowed him by the Old Age and Invalid Insurance fund: First breakfast, $11.25 annually; second breakfast, $7.50; dinner, $18.75; after noon coffee, $7.50; supper, $15; rent, $11.25; clothing, $4.75.

The Prince of Wales espoused the charming Princess Alexandra before he was twenty-two.

It was at the age of twenty-two that the present emperor of Germany was united to Augusta Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein-Augustenburg.

The late king of Spain, Alphonso XII, was a little over eighteen when he formed his brief bright union with his charming cousin Mercedes. He was only twenty-two when he married his second wife, the present queen regent—Lucy Hooper.

"I COULD MOVE THE WORLD"

If I had something to rest my lever on," said Archimedes. Large bodies move or are moved slowly. But it is not impossible or even difficult task to render those small bodies, the kidneies, active when they are so. Don't try to do this with unmediated alcoholic stimulants. The experiment is unsafe. The sure, safe means is Hottel's Stomach Bitters, which affords just the right amount of stimulus without overloading the matter.

Continued inactivity of either the kidneys or bladder, it should never be lost sight of, are attended with grave peril. Bright's disease, diabetes, and other ailments which affect the renal organs, have their origin in inaction of the kidneys. To overcome this is an easy matter at the outset. Not so later. Now is the opportune time in a case of this sort. Irregularity of the bowels, stomach and liver, rheumatism and malaria are remedied by the Bitters.

An example has been made of Traffic Manager Leeds, of the Missouri Pacific railroad, by the Western Traffic association advisory board. He was found guilty of breaking the agreement by cutting sugar rates. His discharge was demanded by the board. Jay Gould at once dismissed him.

The engineers who ran the engines that hauled the Vanderbilt party on its recent inspection trip over the Big Four lines have received letters from the Grand Central station in New York thanking them in behalf of the Messrs. The Grand Duchess Stefania is said to look surprisingly young—not more than twenty—and would be very handsome but for her insignificant eyes. Her complexion is of rose leaf loveliness. This occurrence is frequent. Young girls in public schools where great rivalry exists, often try to accomplish too much, and soon discover that their delicate organizations are unequal to the mental strain. Then the ambitious child is taken from school—"to rest"—in disappointment.

This is wrong. The ambitions of a child should be aided, not blasted. Thoughtful, intelligent mothers know what to do. Thousands of bright eyed, rosy cheeked energetic and lovable school girls regard Mrs. Pinkham as their mainstay. They are right.

Yes, there was a poor fellow in Chicago, a short time ago, who, waking up out of a trance, found himself laid out all ready for burial, and sitting bolt upright in his coffin, gave a cry of astonishment and expired. Poor fellow! They say he discovered that he had on one of those Cheap John shoddy suits, which his friends thought would be good enough to lay him out in, thinking he would never know the difference.
